COMMENCEMENT
SPRING 2013

Dr. J. Bernard Machen

Bernie Machen was appointed Florida's 11th president in January 2004. During his tenure, he has expanded the university's research and scholarship endeavors, elevated its educational programs and increased access to students from a diversity of economic backgrounds – all while shepherding the university through an era of growing financial challenges.

Under President Machen's leadership, UF's annual research funding has soared to $619 million. He has presided over a major expansion of research facilities, grown UF's noted technology commercialization enterprise, and led the Florida Tomorrow capital campaign, a five-year effort that raised $1.7 billion in gifts, pledges and commitments — $201 million more than the $1.5 billion goal.

A longtime advocate for giving students from all walks of life the chance to attend college, Dr. Machen in 2005 pioneered the Florida Opportunity Scholars program, now known as the Machen Florida Opportunity Scholars Program, which pays tuition, room and board for students from disadvantaged backgrounds. More than 2,600 students have attended UF as recipients of the scholarship.

Like other universities nationwide, UF has faced several years of declining state support. Dr. Machen has led Florida's 12 public universities' response to these declines, successfully advocating lawmakers to step up statewide tuition increases while allowing universities greater flexibility in setting their own tuition. President Machen also launched a university-wide sustainability campaign considered a model in public higher education.

Prior to his appointment at UF, Dr. Machen served for six years as president of the University of Utah. His previous positions include provost and executive vice president for academic affairs at the University of Michigan; dean of dentistry at the University of Michigan and associate dean at the University of North Carolina School of Dentistry. A member of the Florida Council of 100, he has held several prominent positions in statewide and national higher education leadership—including as a member of the National Security Higher Education Advisory Board and the Board of Directors for the 2002 Winter Olympics in Salt Lake City. He earned his doctor of dental surgery from St. Louis University and doctorate in educational psychology from the University of Iowa, both of which have honored him with distinguished alumnus awards.

He and his wife, Chris, a former nurse who has been heavily involved in the university's environmental initiatives, have three children and four grandchildren.

On behalf of the University of Florida administration, faculty and staff, I want to extend my most heartfelt congratulations to you, the Class of 2013, and to your family and friends. Today's ceremony celebrates your hard work and achievement in completing a demanding and rigorous course of study at this great public research university. You should be proud, as should all who supported and assisted you in your efforts.

This is a day of celebration, but it also is a day of reflection on what lies ahead. Whatever path you choose, I am confident you have acquired the skills you need to be a success. Whether you pursue a career in public service, private industry, academe, the sciences or the arts, I know you will make a difference.

It has been a privilege and a pleasure to host you during your academic career. You have learned much, and this university has benefited in turn from your presence. I hope you will recall your years here with a sense that they were both happy and productive. As a member of UF's distinguished alumni, you will always be cherished at the University of Florida.

Good luck and best wishes!

The University of Florida

The University of Florida traces its origins to the establishment of the East Florida Seminary, Florida's first institution of higher learning, in 1853. After the Civil War, the seminary was moved to Gainesville. It was consolidated with the state's land-grant Florida Agricultural College, then in Lake City, to become the University of Florida in 1906. Until 1947, UF was designated for men and was one of only three state universities. Today, with nearly 50,000 students, the University of Florida is among the most populous universities in the nation.

UF, one of the largest of Florida's 12 state universities, is governed by the State Board of Education, the Florida Board of Governors and the University of Florida Board of Trustees.

The University of Florida joined the ranks of North America's best graduate research institutions with its admission in 1985 to the Association of American Universities, the most prestigious organization in higher education. The university also has been recognized by the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education as one of the nation's leading research universities.

The University of Florida encompasses 16 colleges, five schools and more than 100 interdisciplinary research and education centers, bureaus and institutes. Students can choose majors from 100 undergraduate degree programs, approximately 200 graduate programs and 30 combined degree programs. Professional postbaccalaureate degrees are offered in dentistry, law, medicine, nursing, pharmacy, physical therapy and veterinary medicine. More than 32,000 people participate annually in noncredit courses, conferences, workshops, institutes and seminars.

The university employs more than 4,000 faculty members and approximately 8,400 administrative, professional and support staff. With operations in more than 900 buildings on 2,000 acres, the university has research centers, extension operations, clinics and/or other facilities and affiliates in every county in Florida.

Distinguished Alumnus Award

Arthur M. "Andy" Horne

Dean Emeritus and Distinguished Research Professor Arthur M. Horne, also known as Andy, graduated from the University of Florida in 1965 with an education to teach English and journalism degree. Two years later, he received his master's in education. Dr. Horne didn't just leave UF with a pair of diplomas – he also left with a pair of wedding bands. He met his wife of 48 years, Lois Gayle Fullagar, who also was a Gator at the time.

Dr. Horne moved on to attain his doctorate at Southern Illinois University in 1971. That same year, he returned to Gainesville to begin teaching at Howard Bishop Junior High School. He later served both as a faculty member and director of training in counseling psychology at Indiana State University until 1989.

Soon after, he became the University of Georgia department head and director of training in counseling psychology and coordinator of a certificate program in marriage and family therapy. From 1984-1985, Dr. Horne taught for the Boston University overseas program in Europe.

In the last five years, Dr. Horne was the dean of UGA's nationally ranked College of Education where he improved the faculty productivity in outreach and research. Prior to that, he directed the college's Education Policy and Evaluation Center. He retired in December.

Aside from his academic success, Dr. Horne is highly recognized for his almost three decades of research on troubled families and the prevention and handling of male bullying and aggressive behavior in schools. He has received more than $7 million in grants from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention since 1999 as principal investigator of a program designed to reduce violence in middle schools. Dr. Horne also received more than $1.5 million in federal grants to train teachers how to identify children at risk for academic, emotional and behavioral problems, as well as how to direct them to a healthier development. For more than a decade, Dr. Horne conducted the Bully Busters Project, which involved working with schools in several states.

His work resulted in a number of books, such as "Bully Prevention: Creating a Positive School Climate," and four publications called the "Bully Busters Program." He has co-authored and co-edited more than two dozen books and has served on the editorial boards of seven journals. He is the former editor of the International Journal for the Advancement of Counseling.

Dr. Horne's achievements also extend to leadership. He was president of the American Psychological Association's Division of Group Psychology and Group Psychotherapy and was the president of the Association for Specialists in Group Work and edited the ASGW's journal. Currently, he is the president of the Society of Counseling Psychology.

Despite his retirement in December, Dr. Horne still strives to change the education environment for children. He is active with the Safe and Welcoming Schools program, a project developed to increase school safety in order to create an engaging culture and climate for all students.

Doctoral Mentoring Awards

The University of Florida Graduate School encourages and rewards graduate faculty for excellence, innovation and effectiveness in mentoring and advising doctoral and graduate students through their dissertation or thesis projects. The recipients of the 2012-2013 award, and excerpts from their personal statements, follow.

Edward Chan
Professor, Oral Biology
College of Dentistry

Edward Chan has been known to get so wrapped up in mentoring his doctoral students that he has forgotten to go home for dinner.

That devotion does not surprise his colleagues.

"It is incredibly rare to find Ed alone, whether in his office, the hall or his lab. Instead, he is usually with a student or a small group of students discussing their data or new findings in the literature," said Robert A. Burne, distinguished professor and chair and associate dean for research in the College of Dentistry.

Dr. Burne notes that Dr. Chan is so popular that he sits on doctoral committees in five different departments in the Colleges of Dentistry, Medicine and Engineering.

Dr. Chan said there "is no simple protocol for all students. To a great extent, engaging the interest of a student is an art form." To listen to his students tell it, Dr. Chan is a master.

Former student Songqing Li, now a researcher with his wife, another Chan mentee, at St. Jude Children's Hospital, recalls giving his first conference presentation with "hands wet, feet cold." After training with Dr. Chan, he said, he gained confidence and even won the Silver Award at one conference.

"As mentors, it is a fun journey where, with only a few short years, we guide and make a difference to some of the best individuals we will ever work with, and we hope this will create a close bond for years to come," Dr. Chan said.

Kara Dawson
Associate Professor,
Educational Technology
College of Education

Former students describe Kara Dawson as a natural mentor, always ready to troubleshoot any problem and quick to offer encouragement.

Wendy Drexler, now director of Online Development at Brown University, said she did not realize how special her relationship with her advisor was until her final semester of doctoral work, when she collaborated with doctoral students in other departments.

"It soon became clear that I had a very special advisor who was mentoring me to become a successful future faculty member," Dr. Drexler said.

Dr. Drexler said Dr. Dawson helped her refine her skills and get exposure for her scholarly work. In fact, Dr. Dawson has co-authored more than 25 refereed articles and book chapters with her doctoral students, and all of her doctoral students have presented at conferences. Dr. Drexler said she credits Dr. Dawson with preparing her for the leadership position she is in today.

Dr. Dawson said she makes a point of encouraging students to seek the advice and guidance of other faculty members and colleagues, in stark contrast to the historical one-to-one model of the student-mentor relationship.

"I believe students should take full advantage of all the talent and resources around them," Dr. Dawson said.

Elizabeth Bondy, professor and director of the UF School of Teaching and Learning, said Dr. Dawson's skill as a problem-solver helps her students navigate the challenging terrain of doctoral study. Dr. Dawson, she said, is a model mentor.

"She is available. She is determined," Dr. Bondy said.

Doctoral Mentoring Awards

The University of Florida Graduate School encourages and rewards graduate faculty for excellence, innovation and effectiveness in mentoring and advising doctoral and graduate students through their dissertation or thesis projects. The recipients of the 2012-2013 award, and excerpts from their personal statements, follow.

Michael Marsiske
Associate Professor, Clinical and Health Psychology
College of Public Health and Health Professions

Michael Marsiske is such an exceptional teacher that the only years other instructors have won the teaching award in the Department of Clinical and Health Psychology are those in which he recused himself from the competition. He has won his department's outstanding graduate teaching award six times and outstanding graduate mentorship award twice.

Now, he can add a University of Florida Doctoral Dissertation/Mentoring Award to his accolades.

Anna Yam, one of three students who nominated Dr. Marsiske, said she could "imagine how he might blush over all this praise." Kelsey Thomas noted that when Dr. Marsiske taught her introductory statistics class, he remembered the names of all 40 students by the second class meeting, and remembered them through subsequent courses. Shannon Sisco, now a practicing clinical psychologist, said her most challenging questions often came from Dr. Marsiske because "he believed I could think bigger."

For his part, Dr. Marsiske calls working with doctoral students the "fuel in my furnace."

"Work with doctoral students keeps one's research current, future-focused, generative, and collegial. There is something exciting about building a team to advance science and scholarship," said Dr. Marsiske, who has served on more than 55 doctoral committees and 27 masters committees.

Dr. Sisco, who chose Dr. Marsiske as a mentor for both her master's and doctoral work, said no idea was off-limits with Dr. Marsiske: "I was his junior colleague, and my ideas mattered to him."

Bonnie Moradi
Professor, Psychology
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences

"I feel like I really belong." One of Bonnie Moradi's students expressed this sentiment about her sense of commitment and belonging to a research career. This testament, especially from an ethnic, minority woman, had a profound effect on Dr. Moradi.

"Her sense of belonging in science stays with me, fuels my commitment to mentoring and makes mentoring one of the most meaningful aspects of my work," said Dr. Moradi, a psychology professor whose research is in the field of social stressors, such as prejudice or discrimination.

Although she is just a decade into her own career, Dr. Moradi has already been named a distinguished mentor by two national organizations and has former students in academic and clinical positions in psychology. Dr. Moradi has shared her expertise and her success, with more than half of her 68 publications and 90 percent of her 100-plus presentations co-authored by her students.

Former student Cirleen DeBlaere, now an assistant professor at Lehigh University, said Dr. Moradi often believes in her students more than they believe in themselves.

"Bonnie has what I believe to be a rare ability to meet students where they are when they begin their graduate experience while simultaneously assisting them in developing a vision of where it is that they can go," said Dr. DeBlaere.

Dr. DeBlaere entered her doctoral studies with a general research interest and vague career goals, she said. By graduation, she had published a chapter and five articles in top journals and obtained her tenure-track post at Lehigh.

Jack Stenner
Associate Professor,
Art and Technology
College of Fine Arts

For Jack Stenner, associate professor of art and technology in the College of Fine Arts, the journey to a doctoral degree or MFA is a path a student and professor walk together.

His students call him mentor, advisor, collaborator, friend and inspiration, and their successes are a tribute to his guidance.

Former student Daniel Tankersley, now a professor himself, said of Dr. Stenner: "He taught me not about what to do, make, think, learn, or see, but how."

"Every day in my own classroom, I hear echoes of Jack's voice in the way I interact with my students," said Dr. Tankersley, an assistant professor of art at Western Oregon University.

In the art world, Dr. Stenner is known for combining art and technology. He is a co-founder of the Digital Fabrication Laboratory, a collaboration between the School of Art and Art History and the School of Architecture. Dr. Stenner has encouraged his students to participate in the world of art and beyond through conferences and exhibitions, resulting in students who are "more world aware than ever," said Richard Heipp, professor and director of the School of Art and Art History.

Dr. Stenner said his students stimulate his creativity as much as he hopes to stimulate theirs.

"Especially in a field that combines art with emerging technologies that are constantly evolving, it is important for students to realize there is no singular answer; exploration is a goal unto itself," Dr. Stenner said.

Graduate Student Teaching Awards 2012-2013

Graduate teaching assistants make a major contribution to teaching and learning at the university. Each academic year, the University of Florida recognizes the best, brightest and most industrious of its graduate teaching assistants for their work as instructors in the classroom and laboratory. In addition to the Graduate Teaching Awards, the top-ranked recipients receive the Calvin A. VanderWerf Award that was established in memory of Dr. VanderWerf, Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (1971-1978).

Howard Hughes Medical Institute

Science for Life Graduate Student Awards 2012-2013

The award is offered as part of the Science for Life Program with support from the Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI). This award recognizes graduate students who participate in research and publication opportunities in the life sciences in collaboration with undergraduates. Up to 20 graduate students per year will receive $500 as an HHMI Graduate Student Award recipient. These inaugural recipients were selected from applicants representing 10 different academic departments in six colleges and units at the University of Florida. These graduate students published research with 20 different undergraduate students while mentoring far more.

Awards to Outstanding Scholars

The Selection Committee for Outstanding Scholars considers grade point average, curriculum, academic awards, research projects or honors thesis. Four-year scholars must have started as freshmen at UF and have no more than minimal work at other institutions.

Rachel Leigh Greenspan

Four-Year Scholar

When she was 10 months old, Rachel Leigh Greenspan had her first taste of being a Gator. After a minor surgery, the doctors advised her parents to keep her hydrated by giving her Pedialyte® or Gatorade®. They chose Gatorade® to put in her baby bottle and 20 years later, she still drinks it every day.

Ms. Greenspan has served as a research assistant in three different areas: the Child Study Lab in the Department of Clinical and Health Psychology with Dr. Reesa Donnelly, the HIP lab in the Department of Sociology and Criminology & Law with Dr. Lisa Hasel, and the web lab in the Department of Psychology with Dr. Gregory Webster. Throughout these studies, she submitted an article on false confessions and safeguards to the Journal of Undergraduate Research at UF. In her academic career, Ms. Greenspan also has worked as a teaching assistant. She met with students twice a week and helped them analyze U.S. Supreme Court cases for discussion. She furthered her experience by tutoring statistics at UF's Teaching Center and becoming a peer writing tutor with UF's AIM program.

Ms. Greenspan is the president of the Cuong Nhu Oriental Martial Arts Club at Cypress Dojo. She devotes 10 hours a week to promoting self-confidence and self-respect through self-defense techniques. She is studying the philosophy of leadership by sharing this art with the community. Ms. Greenspan is also a member of Psi Chi International Honor Society in psychology. Her other recognitions include being an Anderson Scholar with highest distinction and numerous appearances on the dean's list and president's honor roll.

Ms. Greenspan, whose hometown is Wellington, majored in both psychology and criminology and will graduate with a 4.0 GPA from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Her excellence and perseverance led to being accepted into graduate programs at the University of California, Irvine, and the University of California, Riverside, but she is awaiting responses from other schools before making a final decision. She expects to pursue academic research on topics related to the criminal justice system such as eyewitness testimony and legal confessions.

Cory Thomas Lee

Four-Year Scholar

To Cory Lee of Tampa, the Gator Nation is everywhere. Not only is he an Outstanding Scholar in Gainesville, he is taking his academic success with him across the globe. After graduation, Mr. Lee will spend a year studying biochemistry in Germany with a Fulbright Scholarship.

In his undergraduate career at the University of Florida, Mr. Lee devoted his time to the UF Honors Program. He served as treasurer and community service committee chairman for the Student Honors Organization and used those positions to develop new programs and foster connections with other campus organizations. Mr. Lee established the annual honors banquet, which is now in its third year and growing. He also dedicated many hours to the UF Relay for Life, most recently as executive co-chairman of operations, which included supervision of six committees.

Mr. Lee's commitment to service allowed him to take part in Gatorship, a retreat for student leaders who aim to build a diverse UF community. He has volunteered at Shands Hospital at UF in the core lab, emergency department, operating department and cardiac catheter lab.

Along with leadership, Mr. Lee has exhibited success in the sciences. He spent almost three years participating in a research group using electron paramagnetic resonance to study the enzyme mechanism of oxalate decarboxylase. This spring semester, he became a teaching assistant in the biology department for the animal physiology course. In conjunction with his numerous appearances on the dean's list and president's honor roll, Mr. Lee is recognized as a National Merit Finalist and a scholar in the University Scholars Program.

Mr. Lee is graduating from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences with a 4.0 GPA. He majored in biology and German. At the end of May, he will fly to Berlin and conduct research at Freie Universität, and if his Fulbright Grant is accepted, he aims to become the scientific ambassador between his two universities.

Following his year abroad, Mr. Lee will enroll in medical school with the goal of becoming a surgeon and working with communities that need health care.

Awards to Outstanding Scholars

The Selection Committee for Outstanding Scholars considers grade point average, curriculum, academic awards, research projects or honors thesis. Four-year scholars must have started as freshmen at UF and have no more than minimal work at other institutions.

Fiorinda Fiona Muhaj Four-Year Scholar

Fiorinda Muhaj was born in Albania where educational opportunities were not always available, but that didn't stop her from creating opportunities. When she was in eighth grade, her family relocated to Germany on a military contract. She arrived in Florida just five years ago. Despite the obstacles of moving and readjusting to different cultures, Ms. Muhaj sought to learn in any environment, and she's done so, mastering five languages: English, Italian, German, French and Albanian. At the University of Florida, she is succeeding in the sciences and is studying nationality and pride.

As a pediatric health lab research assistant, Ms. Muhaj investigated the psychosocial functioning of children and adolescents with inflammatory bowel disease and studied the effect of family and friends on the eating behavior of youths diagnosed as overweight or obese. She not only conducted research, but Ms. Muhaj served as a teaching assistant. She helped students understand the concepts of organic chemistry. Her desire for assisting others led her to become an ambassador for the Center for Leadership and Service, where she encouraged her peers to grow as leaders.

Currently, she is the fundraising director for Florida Alternative Breaks, an organization that allows students to tackle social issues through service trips. Ms. Muhaj also volunteers at a pediatric outpatient dialysis unit and creates arts and crafts workshops for children and parents.

Ms. Muhaj was recognized as an Anderson Scholar with highest distinction, and received the University Scholar 2012-2013 award for her proposed thesis on German nationality and pride, as well as the international prejudices and historical circumstances that influence the German display of national identity. She submitted and presented her topic at the Undergraduate Research Symposium in March.

Ms. Muhaj, whose hometown is St. Petersburg, is graduating with a 4.0 GPA from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences' honors program and with a dual degree in biology and German. She is pursuing a career in medicine and will start medical school at the University of Florida in August.

Kimberly Rose Papa Four-Year Scholar

As a daughter raised by immigrant parents, Kimberly Papa quickly learned that life wasn't easy. She watched her mother, a secretary, and her father, a salesman, toil long hours to make ends meet. Inspired by their work ethic and high expectations, Ms. Papa managed to get two full scholarships before she began her journey at the University of Florida. Now she is an Outstanding Scholar, not only as a first-generation American, but as a first-generation college student. She plans to become the first doctor in her family and the first to receive a terminal degree.

Ms. Papa balanced a full plate of academics, seven credits of research and a thesis submission before graduation. She participated in a lab as a psychology researcher, where she studied aggression in adolescents. She completed an internship at the Moffitt Cancer Center in Tampa where she investigated experimental therapeutics for melanoma. During her time there, Ms. Papa presented her experimental results at weekly lab meetings and her final results to the faculty before defending her research at a poster symposium, where it was accepted. Most recently, Ms. Papa examined limb development using mouse models in the UF Department of Molecular Genetics and Microbiology. She is listed as a third author on a manuscript submitted to the journal Developmental Cell.

Aside from research, Ms. Papa is passionate about community service. She has comforted newborn infants at the Shands at UF Neonatal Intensive Care Unit and volunteered at Pleasant Place, a local shelter that teaches life skills to struggling teen mothers. Ms. Papa's persistence has allowed her to be recognized as an Anderson Scholar with highest distinction, and she also is a former Gates Millennium Scholar, a title awarded annually by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation to just 1,000 students across the United States.

Ms. Papa, whose hometown is Wesley Chapel, is graduating with a 4.0 from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Her degree is in biochemistry and molecular biology interdisciplinary studies. She has been accepted into the University of Florida College of Medicine.

Awards to Outstanding Scholars

The Selection Committee for Outstanding Scholars considers grade point average, curriculum, academic awards, research projects or honors thesis. Two-year scholars must have earned an Associate of Arts degree at a Florida community college and have completed the remainder of their degree at UF.

Melissa-Melody Marcan Two-Year Scholar

Melissa-Melody Marcan set a goal early on that she never lost sight of – becoming the first in her family to graduate from college. Ms. Marcan completed high school in Germany and moved to the United States in 2009. After attending Santa Fe College for two years, where she maintained a 4.0 GPA while working up to 30 hours per week, Ms. Marcan was admitted to UF in the summer of 2011, where she immediately immersed herself in her studies, internships and extracurricular activities.

At UF, Ms. Marcan was treasurer for the European Union Club, a member of the Pre-Legal Honor Society and was an ambassador for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. During her first fall semester at UF, she was inducted into the Golden Key International Honor Society. Ms. Marcan was a member of the Phi Kappa Phi Academic Honor Society and Pi Sigma Alpha, where she was recognized as the most active member in the chapter.

Ms. Marcan, whose hometown is Gainesville, conducted research pertaining to variations in state approaches to sex offender policies in the 1990s and designed her own multivariate regression analysis to test her hypothesis. She recently worked on a paper examining the effects the Treaty of Lisbon has on structural changes in the European Parliament's committee system.

Ms. Marcan presented research findings at the University of California-Clearmont Undergraduate Research Conference on the European Union (EU) and was admitted to the LUISS Guido Carli School of Government in Rome in the summer of 2012. There she presented a research paper to EU experts and government officials.

Ms. Marcan was a criminal law intern with the Criminal Justice Center in Gainesville, served as an intern at New Europe, a political newspaper in Brussels, Belgium, and was a research assistant for the Gainesville City Commission.

With a major in political science and minors in English and European studies, Ms. Marcan is graduating with a 4.0 from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Ms. Marcan hopes to work for an EU institution in Washington, D.C., and to eventually attend the College of Europe in Belgium to study international relations and diplomacy studies.

Awards to Outstanding Leaders

The Selection Committee for Outstanding Graduating Student Leaders considers the quality and scope of leadership activities, universitywide leadership, experience, special awards, recognition and recommendations of faculty, staff and students.

Christina A. Bonarrigo
Outstanding Female Leader

Christina Bonarrigo learned what it means to be a leader as president of the Student Senate. She is honored today with an Outstanding Female Leadership Award as she graduates with a bachelor's degree in political science.

Ms. Bonarrigo, a first-generation college student, was elected by the Student Senate to lead a 100-member body and seven-member executive committee. Her responsibilities involved passing an $18.3 million budget and acting as a liaison to the administration to advocate for students. Before she was Senate president, Ms. Bonarrigo held several leadership roles in Student Government: budget committee chairwoman, district senator, member at large and judiciary committee member.

Ms. Bonarrigo, whose hometown is Ormond Beach, demonstrated her leadership abilities in other school organizations as well. She worked for Florida Blue Key as the associate general chair for homecoming, organizing alumni events and outreach programs. She also directed weekly meetings with directors of their respective alumni events. She was the director of the Post Gator Growl VIP reception, which 800 people attended and generated $8,000 in revenue, exceeding the previous year's total by 100 percent.

A member of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, Ms. Bonarrigo worked for the program council as the director of alumni affairs handling a number of tasks. Some of her duties included sending bi-monthly newsletters to more than 1,000 Zeta Tau Alpha Gamma Iota members and raising funds for breast cancer education and awareness philanthropy during alumni events. While working on the standards committee for her sorority, Ms. Bonarrigo served as an ex-officio member of the judicial committee to review and decide disciplinary action for members who violated standards. She also recorded proceedings at each judicial committee meeting. In addition, she worked for her sorority's web service advisory committee and university committees on local and technology, transportation and access fees.

With the leadership skills she has acquired throughout the years at the university, Ms. Bonarrigo plans on applying for the Presidential Management Fellowship in hopes of "leaving a positive mark on this great state and nation."

Aynesse Geffrard
Outstanding Female Leader

Aynesse Geffrard embodies what it means to a leader. A recipient of an Outstanding Female Leadership Award, she graduates today with a bachelor's degree in accounting.

As president of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc., Iota Lambda Chapter, Ms. Geffrard served as the direct chapter liaison between the chapter and the University of Florida and the Gainesville community. Her success as president led to the recognition of Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority with eight awards based on programming and grades at the 2012 Greek Awards. But her aspirations to inspire, motivate and lead did not stop there. Ms. Geffrard also worked as her sorority's financial secretary, collecting and recording more than $5,000 of the chapter's funds from dues, fundraisers and chapter events. She also served on the chapter's executive board, providing insight on the proper programs and operational procedures.

Ms. Geffrard's contributions to UF also are found in her achievements as chair and vice chair for the Reitz Union Board of Managers. As chair, she served as a student body representative on a campuswide committee, which oversaw and selected the architectural and construction firms for the union and ensured that the union's resources were properly used.

She demonstrates her commitment to serving others as a mentor and volunteer for Florida Opportunity Scholars. She helped six first-generation students with study sessions and workshops on time management. She also used her experiences as a scholar to discuss the value of a college education in speaking to alumni. As a Florida Cicerone, she assisted potential students and their families in learning about UF through campus tours. Ms. Geffrard served as a board member and mentor for the Heavener School of Business Career & Leadership Programs and the Florida Leadership Academy.

Ms. Geffrard, whose hometown is Fort Lauderdale, said she is confident she will continue to embody the characteristics of a leader she gained from her experiences at the University of Florida.

Ms. Geffrard's honors and awards include Reitz Scholar, Florida Blue Key Leadership Honorary and William E. Rion University Involvement Award.

Awards to Outstanding Leaders

The Selection Committee for Outstanding Graduating Student Leaders considers the quality and scope of leadership activities, universitywide leadership, experience, special awards, recognition and recommendations of faculty, staff and students.

Sabine C. Justilien
Outstanding Female Leader

Sabine Justilien's philosophy on leadership is based on selflessness and mentorship. From the beginning of her time at UF, she joined organizations that were devoted to the idea of service and teaching, such as GatorTeens and Motiv8.

Her beliefs on leadership are also based on the idea of respect and accepting cultural diversity and academic gaps. During her freshman year, she was a Ronald E. McNair Scholar. She researched in the English department and studied social responsibility and minority populations in the American Library Association Amelia Bloomer Project. She received a grant from the Baldwin Library of Historical Children's Literature Special Collections.

As a part of the Black Student Union, Ms. Justilien served as the special events director for UF's Black History Month, where she was in charge of opening and closing ceremonies, keynote speakers and philanthropy events, and was a board member for the Martin Luther King Planning Committee for several years.

As a member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc., she was the membership chair and parliamentarian. She also was a member of the National Pan-Hellenic Council.

In fall 2011, Ms. Justilien became the Unite Student Body president. During elections, she took charge of the campaign, and her efforts resulted in 46 out of 50 district senate seats.

This past academic year, Ms. Justilien became the student body vice president, where she oversaw 18 programming cabinets, initiated new leadership development to increase diversity, and lobbied in Washington, D.C., and Tallahassee for higher education legislation.

Throughout her college career, Ms. Justilien was awarded several titles. Her honors include the Samuel Taylor Greek Person of the Year Award and her induction into Florida Blue Key Leadership Fraternity. She has volunteered at Ronald McDonald House and the Reichert House Youth Academy.

Ms. Justilien, whose hometown is Miami, is graduating with a 3.43 GPA and a bachelor's degree in English from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Holly King
Outstanding Female Leader

Holly King learned about leadership as member of the University of Florida soccer team. Selected to the team's leadership committee in her freshman year, she served for three years and was made team captain by her senior year. As captain, she led the team to the SEC

Championship and the NCAA Sweet Sixteen. Ms. King, from Ashburn, Va., vowed not only to lead through listening and representing the thoughts of the team as a whole, but she wanted to know every team member on an individual basis and support them as a friend.

Ms. King is a leader both on and off the field. Selected to be in the ProTeach program, a five-year program that culminates with a master's in education and prepares students to teach in diverse classrooms, Ms. King demonstrates her leadership qualities as a student teacher as well. Learning to create fun and engaging lesson plans and to adapt if they fail presented similar challenges to those she faced as captain of the soccer team. When things don't go exactly according to plan in the classroom, Ms. King doesn't see it as a setback but as an opportunity to grow as a leader.

She has interned at three elementary schools in the Gainesville area and has been a counselor at Gator Soccer Camp.

Being a student and an athlete all four years of college, Ms. King still managed to earn honors every semester and was on the SEC academic honor roll. Ms. King also won the Robin Fulton Academic Achievement Award, and was recognized as an NCAA Academic All-American for her academic success. Ms. King was a member of the Kappa Delta Pi International Honor Society and part of the SEC Community Service Team.

Ms. King is certainly a leader, but it is not her belief that leadership is something that comes naturally or that you are born with. She believes it is something that you develop. Ms. King's leadership skills have been finely honed through her time and experiences at UF. She will graduate from the College of Education with a degree in elementary education.

Awards to Outstanding Leaders

The Selection Committee for Outstanding Graduating Student Leaders considers the quality and scope of leadership activities, universitywide leadership, experience, special awards, recognition and recommendations of faculty, staff and students.

Cameron B. Martin Outstanding Male Leader

For Cameron Martin, being a great athlete has always been important, but it was a talk from University Athletic Association Athletic Director Jeremy Foley that made him realize athletic performances paled in comparison to playing a powerful role in the community.

Mr. Foley's words and his ability to have his message resonate with an entire organization inspired Mr. Martin and became the foundation of his journey to becoming a leader. Leadership is simply having others follow you, but what makes an outstanding leader is the direction and context of that leadership, Mr. Martin believes.

As a student-athlete, Mr. Martin demonstrated his leadership as president and former treasurer of the Student Athlete Advisory Committee, helping to enhance the experiences of student athletes. He went above the call of duty when he created a website, TheGatorGrind.com, which allows student athletes to showcase their journeys and raise awareness about the organization in general. As captain of the men's swimming and diving team, Mr. Martin showcased his ability to lead a team and was personally thanked by his team's coach who also served as head coach to the 2012 USA Men's Olympic swim team. While team captain, Mr. Martin was a four-time All-American. He was a 2012 Olympic qualifier and won the 2012 senior leadership award as a junior.

Mr. Martin, whose hometown is Clearwater, depicted leadership in his community service roles as well. In 2012, he was invited to join the SEC Community Service Team. He also was part of Goodwill Gators through the University Athletic Association where he logged 124 hours of community service including work with Camp Gator, mentoring at-risk children, and organizing a field day in conjunction with the Special Olympics. But beyond his individual role in community service, his ability to foster the support of his peers in his service efforts defines and exemplifies his ability to lead.

Mr. Martin also thrives in the classroom. A four-time recipient of the Academic All-SEC, Mr. Martin is graduating from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences with a 3.78 GPA and a bachelor's degree in zoology on the pre-medicine track.

Juan Rodriguez Outstanding Male Leader

To Juan Rodriguez, leadership is not a gift people are born with or gained through the length of a résumé. He believes that leadership comes from overcoming obstacles, learning from mistakes and sacrificing personal needs in order to help the community grow.

Mr. Rodriguez's experience extends over multiple organizations. He served as treasurer for the Dominican Student Association and membership director for the Hispanic Student Association (HSA) in his freshman year. As a sophomore, he became the Hispanic Student Association's youngest president since its establishment in 1985. During his term, the attendance rate for HSA Week has been the highest recorded in five years. During his college career, he was inducted into Florida Blue Key, a prestigious organization dedicated to service.

As a member of Sigma Lambda Beta Fraternity, he earned the roles of vice president of finance and judicial chancellor. Under Sorority and Fraternity Affairs, Mr. Rodriguez became a Florida Greek Ambassador. His success allowed him to become a member of the Order of Omega, an honor society where the top 3 percent of Greeks are chosen.

His greatest strides were in Student Government. His journey began as a senator representing the views of his peers and a committee member focused on issues ranging from budget and appropriations to senate replacement and agenda.

From 2011-2012, Mr. Rodriguez became student body vice president, where he oversaw the programming cabinet for Student Government and fulfilled the duties of the president when necessary.

This past academic year, Mr. Rodriguez served as student body treasurer and made pivotal changes throughout campus, such as increasing funding for the Department of Multicultural and Diversity Affairs and partnering with Student Activities and Involvement to give finance training to all organizations under Student Government. Mr. Rodriguez, whose hometown is Miami, became the first student at UF to serve as treasurer and vice president.

Mr. Rodriguez is graduating with a 3.42 GPA and a bachelor's degree in political science from the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Amanda Cleveland

Amanda Cleveland is honored today as a WCBA Hall of Fame recipient in recognition of her academic achievement at the University of Florida. Having maintained a 3.91 grade point average, she graduates summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, with a specialization in marketing and a minor in entrepreneurship. She also is jointly pursuing a Master of Arts in International Business degree and will graduate from the program in August.

Ms. Cleveland is an Anderson Scholar with distinction and has been named to the WCBA dean's list every semester. She also has been recognized on the president's honor roll and as a Florida Academic Scholar. Ms. Cleveland was awarded the Jean and Jewel Ahrano Scholarship for the MAIB Program during the Spring of 2013 in recognition of her academic achievement and service to the college.

In addition to her academic achievements, Ms. Cleveland has actively served the Heavener School of Business as the vice president of programming for Warrington Diplomats, a teaching assistant for a Principles of Marketing class, Florida Leadership Academy historian, Florida Business Leadership Society historian and a Career and Academic Peer (CAP) mentor. She has completed internships with The Nielson Company and Altria.

Ms. Cleveland chose to study abroad in Paris, France, stating that traveling and studying abroad, "provided such a meaning to life, which I never knew existed before. I increased my acceptance of others, increased my understanding of cultural differences, and increased my desire to make an impact in this large world." Learning about different cultures helped Ms. Cleveland solidify her career and personal goals and helped propel her to pursue the MAIB Program.

After commencement, Ms. Cleveland will travel to Vallendor, Germany, where she will attend the WHU - Otto Beisheim School of Management's MBA Summer Institute Program to study the changing European Marketplace and earn her last credits for her MAIB degree. Upon completing her MAIB degree in August, she will move to Chicago, Ill., to begin working for The Nielson Company as an analyst.

Katie Orovecz

Katie Orovecz is honored today as a WCBA Hall of Fame recipient in recognition of her academic achievement at the University of Florida. Having maintained a 4.0 grade point average, she graduates summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, with a specialization in finance and a minor in accounting.

Ms. Orovecz is a Warrington Finance Scholar and has served as a teaching assistant for a macroeconomics course and for the finance department. She has been inducted into Beta Gamma Sigma Business Honor Society where she has served as the vice president of recruitment.

Beyond her outstanding academic achievements, Ms. Orovecz has become a passionate member of the Warrington College of Business Administration community. Inspired by her Warrington Welcome peer leader, she immediately began her campaign to serve the college as a role model and a servant leader. Her service includes volunteering as a Florida Leadership Academy mentor, Business Administration College Council vice president of professional development, Business Analysis Case Competition team member, Enactus project manager for nonprofit consulting, and Career and Academic Peer mentor (CAPs). Outside of the Heavener School of Business, Ms. Orovecz was involved with UF's Horizons Community Service Organization serving in a variety of roles, including president. She also was a member of UF's Handball Club, participating in three national competitions.

Ms. Orovecz has sought out opportunities where she could become involved and help her peers succeed. Through her guidance, she has been able to help numerous WCBA students develop as leaders and achieve internships with high profile companies. Her motivation always came from her desire to learn and help others succeed.

Ms. Orovecz has completed internships with Lockheed Martin Aeronautics and with Lockheed Martin Missiles and Fire Control. She looks forward to taking the lessons she has learned at UF with her as she begins her career with Deloitte as a strategy and operations analyst for the federal government.

Warrington College of Business Administration – Hall of Fame

Ali Thompson

Ali Thompson is honored today as a WCBA Hall of Fame recipient in recognition of her academic achievement at the University of Florida. Having maintained a 3.86 grade point average, she graduates cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, with a specialization in finance and a minor in public leadership.

Ms. Thompson is a Warrington Finance Scholar and has served the Department of Finance as a teaching assistant for the past two years. She has represented the Warrington College of Business Administration in four different business case competitions placing third in the Thammasat Undergraduate Business Challenge in Bangkok, Thailand, and first in the Johnson & Johnson Case Competition in New Brunswick, N.J. Her experiences as a member of the business case analysis team allowed her to travel and experience new cultures while also helping her identify her leadership skills under pressure and in an intense environment. Time and time again, Ms. Thompson helped her team persevere through the use of her strengths as a "harmonizer" and through her positive and supportive attitude. Through her service as a team member for the case competitions, Ms. Thompson was able to learn about new cultures while bringing prestige to the Warrington College of Business Administration and the University of Florida.

In addition to her scholastic service and case competitions, Ms. Thompson has established herself as a leader both inside and outside the classroom which is evident through her vast leadership and involvement experiences. Her service includes volunteering as a Florida Leadership Academy mentor and Advisory Board member, Warrington Welcome peer leader and Advisory Council chair, Business Undergraduate Mentorship Program (BUMP) mentor and Advisory Board member, and Enactus project manager of First Year Florida Ethics Case Competition. She also has been active in her sorority, Alpha Delta Pi, as the scholarship chair and served as a small group facilitator for the Young Leaders Conference. Ms. Thompson has utilized every opportunity over the past four years to grow personally and professionally while giving back to the college of business.

Ms. Thompson has completed internships with the General Electric Healthcare Financial Management Program. Following graduation, she has been accepted into CSX Transportation's Financial Leadership Development Program in Jacksonville, Fla., gaining experience in operational, commercial and corporate finance.

What Makes a University Great?

Some interesting facts about the University of Florida

Educational Excellence

UF is consistently ranked among the nation's top universities: No. 17 in U.S. News & World Report "Top Public Universities" (August 2012); No. 2 in Kiplinger's "Best Values in Public Colleges" (2012) and No. 7 in the Princeton Review Best Value Public Colleges (2012).

Job recruiters ranked UF ninth on the list of Top 25 places where corporations prefer to recruit new employees (2010). UF also ranks No. 2 on SmartMoney magazine's list of universities whose graduates get the highest salary return for their tuition dollars (2012); No. 3 on SmartMoney magazine's list of colleges and universities that help graduates get top salaries (2011); and No. 6 on Payscale.com's list of universities that offer the best return on investment for undergraduate education (2011). UF ranked 21st in the National Universities category of the 2012 Washington Monthly magazine College Rankings.

Faculty

- UF has 4,215 faculty members with distinguished records in teaching, research and service, including 40 Eminent Scholar chairs and 28 faculty elections to the National Academy of Sciences, Engineering, the Institute of Medicine, or the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.
- Awards include a Fields Medal, two Pulitzer Prizes, NASA's top award for research, and Smithsonian Institution's conservation award.

Students

- The fall 2012 incoming freshman class had an average 4.2 GPA and 1945 SAT score.
- UF admitted 1,375 International Baccalaureate students — more than any other university in the U.S. — in fall 2011.
- More than 90 percent of incoming freshmen score above the national average on standardized exams.
- The freshman retention rate of 96 percent is among the highest in the country.
- Sixty-five percent of UF freshmen graduate in four years, and 83 percent graduate in six years.
- Nearly two-thirds of UF graduates leave the university with no student loan debt. For the remaining third, their average indebtedness is about $17,000, as compared with the national average of roughly $27,000.
- Among AAU public universities, UF ranked second in bachelor's degrees and fourth in doctorates awarded to Hispanic students in 2009-10.
- Among AAU public universities, UF ranked first in bachelor's degrees and fifth in doctorates awarded to African-American students in 2009-10.

Research and Discoveries

UF is a leader in research and discoveries which improve the lives of individuals throughout the state, nation and world.

- UF's research expenditures totaled $740 million in 2011, ranking it 12th in a national ranking of research and development spending at public universities.
- Gatorade®, the world's most popular sports drink, is just one of hundreds of commercial products resulting from UF research.

Born in the lab

In 1965, University of Florida nephrologist Dr. James Robert Cade and a team of researchers who included Dr. H. James Free, Dr. Dana Shires, and Dr. Alex de Quesada, began work to answer the question posed about the football team regarding why players were suffering from heat and heat-related illness.

At the time, basic exercise wisdom discouraged replenishing liquids lost to sweating during a game, and the researchers quickly discovered that players were losing too much fluid and electrolytes, and the large amounts of carbohydrates the players' bodies used for energy were not being replenished.

They developed a drink that contained salts and sugars that could be absorbed more quickly, and the basis for Gatorade® was formed.

Dr. Cade was an innovator who also worked on discoveries such as popsicles that could help replenish protein and pneumatic helmets. He was a talented clinician and teacher, as well as a devoted violinist who would play for his patients and whose numerous interests show a basic creativity and ability to make unexpected connections to answer research questions in new ways.

Economic Impact

UF is an economic powerhouse behind Florida's economy.

- UF's annual economic impact exceeds $8.76 billion.
- UF activities generate an estimated 106,118 statewide jobs, including more than 41,000 university employees and those employed by supporting businesses.
- Every state dollar appropriated to the University of Florida results in a $15 return on investment.

Chain of Office

The chain of office is an ornament worn with the president's academic regalia symbolizing the authority and responsibilities incumbent with the office. The chain was presented in 2004 during the installation ceremony of President J. Bernard Machen. The medallion centerpiece is a 1.3-carat orange diamond engraved with the portraits, names and service years of the university's 11 presidents. The Major Analytical Instruments Center at UF used ion beam engraving technology on the medallion. Also on the medallion are three .025-carat blue diamonds placed around the silhouette of the Century Tower and University Auditorium, signifying teaching, research and service. All four diamonds, donated by Gemesis Corp. of Sarasota, Florida, were grown using a process developed and patented by UF's Department of Materials Science and Engineering.

Academic Mace

"Honoring the Past, Shaping the Future" was the signature of the University of Florida's sesquicentennial celebration in 2003. It also was the inspiration for the ceremonial mace created and dedicated to mark this historic event. The mace dates back to the Middle Ages and symbolizes strength and authority; each is unique and reflects the values and characteristics of the institution. The university's chief marshal carries the mace at all academic processions. Designed and crafted on the University of Florida campus, the mace artfully symbolizes those elements important to the university's identity and history.

The 70-inch ceremonial staff combines traditional elements with modern styling. The stylized alligator rests on the globe signifying the University of Florida as an adaptable global leader in teaching, research and service. The four pillars supporting the globe represent the four original colleges; Agriculture, Engineering, Liberal Arts and Law. The cone holds the University of Florida Seal and words to the Alma Mater. The staff is carved from native cherry wood. The acorn finial depicts the adage "from tiny acorns mighty oaks do grow," a commitment to life long learning. The brick pattern on the handle symbolizes higher education tradition and structure. Like the institution it represents, the mace is not static; growth and movement are expressed with loose rings engraved with the names of the university's presidents and their years in office.

Caps and Gowns, An Explanation

The academic costume worn by graduating students and faculty at today's commencement ceremonies evolved from a style of dress worn by members of guilds and religious orders in medieval times. The black academic gown is worn by individuals who have earned a degree in higher education. In addition, hoods are worn by graduate degree candidates, but not by undergraduate degree candidates.

At the University of Florida, the lining of the hood has a blue chevron on an orange background to represent the university colors. University faculty members who hold degrees from another college or university wear the colors of their alma mater.

The velvet edging on the academic hood is the color that represents the particular degree held by the wearer. Agricultural and Life Sciences and Forest Resources and Conservation share maize edging; Design, Construction and Planning and Building Construction are blue-violet; Audiology degrees have colonial blue edging; Business Administration and Accounting are drab; Dentistry is lilac; Education is light blue; Engineering degrees are represented by orange edging; Fine Arts degrees have brown edging; Journalism and Communications is garnet; Law is purple; Liberal Arts is white and Liberal Sciences is gold-yellow; Medicine is green; Music is pink; Natural Resources and Environment is antique gold; Pharmacy is olive; Philosophy is royal blue; Public Health degrees have salmon-pink edging; and Rehabilitation Counseling degrees have Nile green edging.

Distinctions among sleeves indicate the type of degree held by the wearer. A long, pointed sleeve indicates a bachelor's degree, while a long, closed sleeve with a slit near the upper part of the arm designates a master's degree. A round, open sleeve identifies a doctoral degree.

The doctoral costume also has velvet running on the rest of the gown, including cross bars on the sleeve. The trimming may be black or it may match the color of the velvet hood edging. Colored tassels on the degree candidates' caps indicate a candidate's school or college.

Decorating the platform today are 'Gator Glory' coleus plants. These are a new variety of garden plant developed and provided by the UF/IFAS Institute for Plant Innovation.

The 2012-2013 academic year has been spent celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Morrill Act. This federal legislation, signed by President Abraham Lincoln on July 2, 1862, established a nationwide network of public land-grant universities with a new mission. They would not only offer traditional subjects such as medicine, theology and law, they would also teach agricultural science, military tactics and engineering. Moreover, these institutions were created with federal financial support, designed to make higher education affordable to people from modest backgrounds.

UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (UF/IFAS) is dedicated to furthering the tripartite land-grant mission of teaching, research and extension. The idea for developing a Gator-orange coleus originated in ORH 1030, Plants Gardening and You. Taught by Dr. David Clark, professor of environmental horticulture, the class studies the art and science of plants and makes students more aware of the plants they eat and the plants in their surroundings. Students in the course receive plants of their own each week. In the last four years, more than 25,000 plants have been given to the 2,000 students who have taken the class and to friends they have brought with them from every major on campus.

Working with research colleagues in the UF/IFAS Institute for Plant Innovation, Dr. Clark used novel breeding techniques to develop this variety. The gold band around the bright orange leaves symbolizes the color traditionally used for agricultural disciplines in academic regalia. This new variety has proven to be tough in the warm Florida sunshine and is now given to the people of Florida for their continued support of the Gator Nation.

Alma Mater

*Florida, our Alma Mater
Thy glorious name we praise
All thy loyal sons and daughters
A joyous song shall raise.
Where palm and pine are blowing,
Where southern seas are flowing,
Shine forth thy noble Gothic walls,
Thy lovely vine-clad halls.
Neath the Orange and Blue victorious
Our love shall never fail.
There's no other name so glorious—
All hail, Florida, Hail!*
